

DFAM100

Signature compatible back laminate with a matte coated baseliner for good visibility of back printing prior to card pulling. The universal release allows for any width patch to be used. A breakaway coating is added to allow for the card to pop and peel from any side. Small ties should be added when heavy processing is anticipated. This back laminate should be used when signature compatibility is necessary. It is also used when the back patch left behind with the document needs to be laser imaged or signed. The matte coating can help reduce static. In addition, the coating can add a grip to the patch when heavy processing is anticipated.
